WHY HOST A RETREAT?

For Coaches and Entrepreneurs, Retreats can be a powerful tool for personal and professional development, as they provide an immersive and focused environment that can facilitate new insights and breakthroughs. Coaches can use retreats to lead group sessions and activities, and offer one-on-one coaching, which can be highly beneficial for clients. Additionally, they can use retreats as a way to build their brand and attract new clients, which can generate additional revenue. Overall, retreats provide an opportunity to step away from the distractions of everyday life and focus on learning, growth, and connection with others.

Businesses host retreats for their staff for several reasons:

1. Team building: Retreats provide an opportunity for staff members to bond and build stronger relationships, which can improve communication, collaboration, and overall team dynamics.
2. Professional development: Retreats can be used to provide training and development opportunities for staff members, which can help them acquire new skills and knowledge that can benefit the organization.
3. Company culture: Retreats can be used to communicate the company's mission, values, and goals, and reinforce the company culture, which can help staff members better understand and align with the company's overall vision.
4. Employee engagement: Retreats can be used to improve employee engagement and motivation, which can lead to increased productivity, job satisfaction and retention.
5. Stress relief: Retreats can be used to provide a break from the stress of the everyday work environment, which can help staff members return to their jobs refreshed and reinvigorated.

Overall, retreats can help businesses achieve many different goals, from improving team dynamics to boosting employee engagement, which can ultimately lead to increased productivity and success for the organization.

TESTIMONIALS

We had our corporate retreat organised and managed by Talise and the team at Harlo Collective Co. This was our first overseas retreat with our Leadership Team, and a significant investment so we wanted to get it right. Talise hit the mark on accommodation, timing, and booking the entire team's travel with various requirements, arranged a private chef, our menu, tours, and accommodation with local knowledge, drivers, and butlers; the entire package. Every detail was thought through, and this made the event effortless. Our team loved her, so having her there onsite throughout the retreat arranging all the check-ins and everything we needed at the local level was amazing, and really went the extra mile. I highly recommend Talise and her team for any event needing that x-factor.
